

2021 Neuroscience Art Competition

The BYU Neuroscience Center invites neuroscience majors to submit creative works expressing the beauty of neuroscience on the theme of:

CONNECTIONS

More than ever, we're learning the importance of connections with one another. And as a neuroscience major, you're learning about neural connections all the time! Let this inspire you for this year's art contest.

- YOU MUST BE A NEUROSCIENCE MAJOR TO ENTER
- Winning entries must be donated to the Neuroscience Center office; other entries can be retrieved by appointment after the contest
- Your entry may be in any medium, but smaller than 2' x 3'
- Each student can only submit one entry
- Entries have the option to be considered for publication in CHIASM, the Neuroscience Center website, or other Neuroscience Center publications
- Entries are due in the Neuroscience Center office (S192 ESC) by 5 pm on Monday, March 1st
- The art will be displayed on Tuesday, March 16th, most likely on our website (in accordance with COVID-19 regulations)
